Don Thibeau
Chairman & President
The Open Identity Exchange

Don is Chairman and President of The Open Identity Exchange (OIX), a non-profit trade organization that is comprised of leading companies from competing sectors, including the Internet (Google, PayPal, etc.), data aggregation (Equifax, Experian, etc.), telecommunications (Verizon, etc.), and enterprise systems (Microsoft, Symantec, etc.). OIX has become the first U.S. Government-endorsed certification authority and a global center of excellence for the identity trust layer of online transactions. A test bed for business, legal and technical policies in the emerging open identity space, OIX is fueling the expansion of today’s Internet services and the rapid deployment of new online products. Mr. Thibeau is also Executive Director of the OpenID Foundation, a standards development organization focused on open standards for internet identity.
